Sanders Resigns as Senator, and as Governor Names His Successor.

MATTER UP TO U. S. SENATE

Contended That Proceeding Violates Rule Laid Down in Quay Case.

Washington, September 3 .- Governor Sanders's appointment of Judge J. R. Thornton as Senator from Louisiana Congress assembles in December.

The appointment was made to fill a vacancy occasioned by the death of Senator McEnery, which occurred a few days after the adjournment of Congress last June. The Louislana Legislature, was in session at the time, and Governor Sanders was elected to succeed the deceased Senator. Desiring, however, to devote his energies to the proposed Panama Canal exposition in New Orleans, the Governor has resigned the office of Senator, and as Governor has appointed Mr. Thornton to be Senator. It is contended that the proceeding violates the rule laid down in the Quay case, which was that a Governor of a State has no power to make a temporary appointment as Senator to fill a vacancy which may have happened when the Legislature of the State was in session. Having resigned while the Pennsylvania Legislature was in session. Mr. Quay sought re-election. Failing in this effort, he was given an appointment by the Governor. By a majority of one, on a vote of sixtyfive, the Senate refused to award the seat to him.

Virginia Commanders at Gettysburg May Make Too Long a List.

Acting at the request of Colone Thomas Smith, of Warrenton, secretary of the Gettysburg Monument Commission, Colonel Joseph V. Bidgood, secretary of Virginia Military Records, has about completed the roster of commanders of this State who took part in the battle. It is contemplated to put this list on the sides of the shaft. The roster will however represent The roster will, however, perhaps be curtailed on account of its length. Many sheets of paper are covered with curtailed on account of its' length. Many sheets of paper are covered with the names, and it is not unlikely that the list is too long to be accommodated on the monument.

Beginning with General Robert E. Lee. Colonel Bidgood has taken the division commanders next. General Pickett and his staff are named, then come the other general officers with their staffs. The names of regimental commanders are also given. Of course, in every instance no names are recorded as any those of Virginians, as the monument is to be erected in honor of the Gettysburg soldiers from this State only.

WIII Publish List.

As soon as the list is complete, it will be published in the newspapers by the Gettysburg Monument Commission, and every person may then scrutinize it and suggest corrections. It is likely that the roster contains some names of persons who were not at the battle, while, on the other hand, it may be incomplete.

In reference to this matter, visitors to the Gettysburg battlefield during the recent military manoeuvres were rather surprised to find that as yet no Southern State has placed a monument on the ground, although many States of the North have done so. The only Southern shaft there is a regimental one, erected to the memory of one of the Maryland regiments which served with the Confederacy.
